

ProAssign ACT Resilient™ Leadership

Human Factor Resilience in Business

During difficult times, uncertainty and concerns can dominate and interfere with performance in organisations. Organisation leaders now face ever-increasing and often unpredictable challenges such as new legislation, reducing of budgets, and the challenge of business demands.

Organisations are seeing the need for quality leaders who can effectively guide their teams through uncertain times with resilience and especially through the complexity of integrating disparate professional groups into new business environments.

ProAssign ACT™ RESILIENT Leadership programme helps your leaders to develop the psychological ability and skills needed to weather adversity and successfully lead their teams with vision and resilience.

Never has it been more important to complement business systems resilience with human-factor resilience in your people.
