

ProAssign ACT™ Innov8

Innovation Mindset Training & Facilitation

Innovation can be seen as a parallel step for growth, along with areas such as cost-reduction and business-process re-engineering. Organisations know that innovation is essential for survival, however many do not know how to manage innovation successfully.

Innovation is about creativity, thinking differently and supported by effective leadership-management. It is about bringing teams to the right mind-set and finding ways to lead hearts and minds in support of the 'innovative idea'.

Developing skills such as effective communication, resilience, problem-solving, emotional intelligence and skills in areas such as collaboration, motivation and critical thinking help to make innovation more effective and durable.

ProAssign ACT™ Innov8 shows how training and facilitation for Innovation can provide substantial benefits to a range of creative people and help them to drive the organisation's competitive edge into the future.
