ProAssign ACT™ Programmes

Protecting Human Capital Investment

The human capital investment that is made in a business often centres on the key people that are brought into important roles in that organisation. The risks associated with choosing the right people for an organisation can indeed be high and the loss if things go wrong can be significant.

ProAssign ACT programmes are a range of integrated and stand-alone services that help to minimise these risks. They focus on selecting the right individuals and creating effective programmes for their development over the first 100 days.

For those people and teams already with an organisation, a range of unique assessment, training and coaching programmes help to protect the valuable investments in these assignments.
